DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed 12 October 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Because the amended claims still reads on the cited art.

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-28 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 10 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hirose et al. (U.S. Patent # 5,537,307) in combination with Cocconi (U.S. Patent # 5,341,075).

3. Hirose et al. disclose the claimed invention a power supply (figures 1a-b and 6a-b), including an inverter (figure 1a, item 1), a controller (figure 1a, item 105 and 106), and a calculation of available current (column 2, line 1-40). However Hirose et al. does not disclose the utilization of the technique for traction motor. Cocconi teaches the utilization of the similar technique for a traction motor (claim 15). It would be obvious one having an ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Hirose et al.'s power supply can be used to provide power to motor traction system as taught by Cocconi for the purpose

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 2-9,12-19 and 21-28 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
